This little drawing, it pleases us to dedicate to that Rampageous Reprobate—

The World at Large.

yet as we mark his Story Plus and see him whoop and whool and whiz
We can but cry—O Lord, why is
The World at Large!

Greeting

It is for our own pleasure and for the pleasure of those who may become readers of this, the seventh volume of the Lagniappe, as well as for the more serious purpose of enabling the "folks at home" to come in closer sympathy with the environment under which we, the students, spend our school days at our beloved Alma Mater, the Louisiana Industrial Institute, that we continue the established custom of publishing an annual record of school events.

But with the realization that this little volume is not a literary masterpiece, we wish our readers to know that it is our honest endeavor to preserve the pleasant memories of our school days, which we shall always hold dear, and to ask that our work of love and tenderness which has inspired it, be not gazed upon with the eye of the cold and heartless critic.

Dedication

TO

PROF. WILLIS B. HALE

Who has been a true friend, earnest teacher, and ever-cheerful companion to the students of the L. I. I. for nine years, we dedicate this, the seventh volume of the Lagniappe with a spirit of honor, affection and respect.

Since the organization of the Alumni Association of the Louisiana Industrial Institute, in 1899, many changes have taken place in the school. It has taken its place with other institutions for higher education in the State and South. The Alumni Association has grown with the school, being reinforced year by year with new life and new spirit of each succeeding graduating class.

The Association is composed of two hundred and fifty-one men and women, who represent the citizenship of our land, and who aid in the direction of its affairs. It now stands as a representative of a school which has come to be recognized as a power in the educational world, a school where the hand and heart is trained, as well as the mind. During the past few years the industrial work of our school has been strengthened, and now there is a great demand for teachers who are graduates of this school.

A scholarship of $100.00 is being given each year to a former student who would otherwise be unable to attend. This year it was given to Miss Clyde Mobley, who graduated recently and is now a very successful teacher of domestic science in one of the State high schools. This scholarship will be continued each year, the funds being obtained from the dues of the membership of $1.50 per annum.

Mid-Term Graduating Class

CAREY ROBERTSON, RUSTON, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"The Design of a Power Plant."

"Happy" is the man that findeth wisdom and the man that getteth understanding. For the merchandise of it is better than the merchandise of silver, and the gain thereof than fine gold."

LORINE SAUNDERS, RUSTON, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"The Development of Agriculture in Louisiana."

Lorine, well Lorine seemed to know everything but just couldn't tell it. She had a smile for every one and looked on the brightest side all the time.

ARDIS MARBURY, RUSTON, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"The Design of a Power Plant."

"Who can tell me how to study 'Paradise Lost?'" This is what Ardis would invariably ask, but somehow he found out. He was one we could all rely upon, because when a thing had to be done, he was there ready to help.

JIM GILL, RUSTON, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"The Design of a Power Plant."

Jim was our dignified member. Never spoke unless it was absolutely necessary, but whenever called upon in class, he would surprise us all by his excellent answers.

CLYDE MOBLEY.

Subject of Thesis—"Textile and Simple Sewing in the Public Schools."

Clyde was our Domestic Science girl, and by merely looking into her face, you could see thoughts that were deeper than words.

EARLY McCALLUM, RUSTON, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"The Evolution of the Electric Telegraph."

He was one of the quiet members, but could answer one question as well as another and somehow always got them right too.

ETHEL McKINNEY, RUSTON, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"Dieting in Fever and Other Diseases."

Ethel was very quiet and kind. Never got excited except when discussing "Evolution."

CONRAD McKINNEY, RUSTON, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"Design of a Power Plant."

He was our studious member. Extra bright in Mathematics. This was his favorite motto:

"The heights of great men reached and kept

Were not attained by sudden flight;
But they, while their companions slept,
Were toiling upward in the night."

EVA NOLAN, RUSTON, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"American Illustrators."

Altho little in stature, she held her own. She was a hard worker and generally accomplished whatever she attempted to do.

JULIA ROBERTSON, RUSTON, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"The Pure Food and Drug Laws of Louisiana."

Julia always carried sunshine wherever she went. Her bright and cheerful disposition won her many friends.

LELA TAIT, DANVILLE, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"The Development of the Boot and Shoe Industry in the United States."

To know her was to love her. She had a kind word for all and was one of our brightest members.

WILLIE WALTERS, CHOUDRANT, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"The Monetary System of the United States."

She was a good student; would do anything to please her teachers and friends, and, by doing this she won a place in the affections of all who knew her.

SALLIE BEOPPLE, MINDEN, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"The Increased Cost of Living."

She was noted for her loving disposition and wit. She kept this motto ever before her:

"A little nonsense now and then
Is relished by the best of men."

WHARTON BROOKS, RUSTON, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"United States Navy."

He was one of our jolly members, and was always ready to carry out any scheme suggested; yet, he was studious and one that was liked by all.

MAXA SAUNDERS, RUSTON, LA.

Subject of Thesis—"Adulteration of Foods."

She was dignified and modest. Never argued with anyone, but had her opinion on each and every subject.

CORNELIA MARGARET LANE, BΨ, Ruston, La.
DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

Always in a good humor and smiling. Little and cute. One of our smart girls, for didn't she get out of Trig. and Analytics exams? Is specially fond (?) of a certain Ph.D. in the faculty, and he knows it. Has as many friends as any girl in school and can love them all. Entered school session 1907-08. Editor-in-chief of Lagniappe.

Thesis Subject—New and Improved Vegetable Food Products.

WALTER BARR, KΣ, Loch Lomond, La.
MECHANIC.

Loudest member of class. Takes special delight in exhibiting literary accomplishments. His chief occupation is acting wise to scare the Freshies.

Entered school 1906-07.

Business Manager of Lagniappe. Captain football team 1910.

Thesis Subject—Design of a Combination Motor-Driven Lathe.

SARA LONAM JOHNSTON, Ruston, La.

BUSINESS.

Tall, pretty, smart and lovable. She is our baby, and you can always make her feel good by referring to her youthfulness. Is generally known as "Skeete," and is a jolly good member of 1911. Entered school 1908-09. Humorous editor of Lagniappe.

Thesis Subject—Ice Manufacture.

J. MELTON OAKES, ΦΔ, Homer, La.

BUSINESS.

Chief hobby, singing tenor to disgust of Geology Class. Loves baseball and aspires to be a professional. Was in class only one term, and is a smart member. Entered school 1907½.

Thesis Subject—The Influence of Newspapers.

SUSAN ABERNATHY HENDRICK, ΣΦΙ, Reisor, La.
DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

Always happy, pleasant and jolly. Continually seeing the optimistic side of life. Very active and a dandy baseball player. Chief hobby is her love for home-folks. Entered school 1907-08. Secretary of class. Domestic Science Editor of Lagniappe.

Thesis Subject—Micro-organisms Involved in Cheese Making.

KATHERINE EUGENE HENRY, Walnut Lane, La.
DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

Sweet, pretty and unaffected. Greatest fault is bluffing everybody, with the exception of classmates and a few immediate friends. Teachers think she is a little angel, but they don't know, for behind those dreamy brown eyes mischief shines. Entered school 1908-09.

Thesis Subject—Ptomaine Poisoning.

RUTH CAROLYN DAVIS, ΣΦΙ, Ruston, La.

MUSIC.

Disdains all honors and is just plain Ruth. Hates to be teased, and is very sensitive about her love affairs. Entered school 1908-09. Class musician. Member Town Girls' Basket Ball Team 1908.

Thesis Subject—Growth of the Modern Orchestra.

ANDREW LAPORT JONES, Grand Chenier, La.

BUSINESS.

Delights in telling stories of his past experiences to his innocent classmates. Knows more than he is given credit for. Can get in more trouble than any member, but manages to get out in some way. Has aspirations for becoming an M. D. Entered school session 1907-08.

Thesis Subject—The Growth and Development of the Dairy Industry in Louisiana.

ACHSAH BARNETTE BARROW, BΨ, Bienville La.
DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

One of our brightest members, especially in Geology. Master-hand at sewing and cooking, and will some day make some home a paradise. Entered school session 1907. Representative Junior Class 1910. Representative Home Economics Club 1911.

Thesis Subject—Ferments and Fermentation.

ROYAL COLCOTE, Ruston, La.
BUSINESS.

Our smart boy. Has high aspirations to be great. He is steady and studious. Chief fault is talking too much. Entered school 1908-09. Vice-President of class. Class Representative 1911.

Thesis Subject—Good Roads.

MAMIE EVELYN TERRELL, ΣΦΙ, Cherry Ridge, La.
BUSINESS.

Pretty, sweet and lovable. Is loved by the whole class. Chief fault, loving the faculty too much. Favorite occupation, reciting her geology lesson. Entered school 1907-08. Class Historian.

Thesis Subject—Restriction of Foreign Immigration.

WILLIAM JOSEPH COBURN, ΦΔ, Farmerville, La.
BUSINESS.

Somewhat of a singer, a good deal of a mathematician, more of an artist, and a first rate, jolly classmate. Only fault is flirting too much. Loves all who are "Pleasant." Entered school 1908-09. Art Editor of Lagniappe.

Thesis Subject—Economic Causes and Results of the Civil War.

LEONA DRIGGERS, Ruston, La.

BUSINESS.

Smartest girl in class. Finished bookkeeping in one term. Is an indispensable member of the class, as she is so unselfish in her vast store of knowledge. Chief favorite of faculty. Entered school 1908-09. Senior Representative to Lagniappe. Thesis Subject—Life Insurance.

OLA BOND, Ruston, La.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

"Cutest" girl in the class. Noted for her originality and wit. One of the chief upholders of Senior dignity, but in reality is the jolliest of girls. Entered school session 1907-08. Artist of class.

Thesis Subject—Home-made Furniture and Household Decoration.

BERRY NICHOLAS WARDLOW, Alberta, La.

BUSINESS.

Berry is a firm believer in co-education. Loves all the girls in the class. Is continually shocking his classmates by his vast store of information. Favorite expression: "Beg your pardon." Entered school 1907-08. Boys' Dormitory Editor of Lagniappe. Representative Pelican Agatheridan Society 1910.

Thesis Subject—Postal Savings Banks.

ELIZABETH PEARL RICHARDSON, BΨ,

Ruston, La.

BUSINESS.

She is kind-hearted and generous to all. Her highest ambition is to weigh over a hundred pounds. Has lots of trouble with her industrials, but is a good, all-around Pearl, anywhere you put her. Entered school 1907.

Thesis Subject—Industrial Education in the United States.

HAZEL WARREN, Ruston, La.
DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

Hazel is our fine girl. She can always be depended upon if she does blush on all occasions. Is especially fond of the Southern Express Company, and we won't be surprised if she teaches only a short while. Entered school 1907½.

Thesis Subject—Vegetarianism.

RUTH LEAL STEWART, ΣΔΘ, Mindin, La.
DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

Although Ruth has been with us but one year, we all love her and feel that she had always belonged to our class. She aspires to teach, but we think there will be but one pupil. Doesn't care for the boys. Sweet and simple. Entered school 1906.

Thesis Subject—Milk Studies.

JOHN DAVID STEPHENSON, KΣ, Hico, La.

BUSINESS.

This man entered Prep. and therefore feels like a veteran among us. He is reserved and modest, but his sterling worth has won for him many friends among the faculty and students. He loves the girls, but has not yet become entangled in the web of Cupid. He is a fine football player. Entered school 1907-08. President of the class. Captain basket ball team 1910-11.

Thesis Subject—The Development of Peanut Industry in the United States.

SALLIE BLONDE PAGE, Ringgold, La.

BUSINESS.

Blonnie is sober, steadfast and demure. Doesn't believe in foolishness, but is jolly when she wants to be. Brag member of class when it comes to being good. Has never been caught off her dignity. Entered school 1903. Girls' Dormitory Editor of Lagniappe.

Thesis Subject—Agricultural Education in the United States.

JEWELL EVELYN FLETCHER, Ruston, La.

MUSIC.

Takes world too seriously. Believes anything that is told to her. Chief occupation is offering sociological suggestions to Mr. Hale. Loves notoriety, but loves Harmony just a little more. Entered school 1907-08.

Thesis Subject—The Growth and Development of the Pipe Organ.

JUANITA PORTER, Sibily, La.

She was mild and gentle, but was ready to have fun just any time. Very studious, and was loved by all.

Thesis Subject—The Violin.

Junior II Class History

Looking far back into the past, we see the faint outline of a classroom, in which were assembled sixty eager, ambitious Freshmen. Since then our class has been reduced to twenty-two. As we look back upon these past three years we find many things upon which our memory dwells with pleasure, but there is a touch of sadness in the thought that we will never again walk in the paths of the verdant Freshmen, or be numbered with the scarcely less green Sophomores.

Since we have attained this honorable title of Juniors, we have ranked first in whatever came up—be it measles or meanness, good looks or ugliness. We show unusual ability in using deceit. For instance, Mattie has succeeded in fooling all the teachers into giving her ninety or above in every subject, even Analytics. Mr. Doxey would be an extraordinarily bright student if he did not spend all his time in entertaining the girls. Ida is an expert in the shorthand line. Mr. Steine has won honors on the ball ground. Joe Eddie takes everything as it comes, and if it doesn't come she takes it anyway.

There are many other distinguished members, but it would take volumes to tell about all of them. And now, in conclusion, we are going to tell a few of the things we intend to do. Mr. Dee is studying with the intention of becoming a minister. Mary Lee has decided to be an actress. Hettie has already shown her ability as a school teacher. Joe Eddie is to begin work as stenographer for Coburn and Smith, lawyers, in September, 1913. Ludie, Carrie Lee and Lillian, self-sacrificing girls that they are, have decided to spend their lives as missionaries to South Africa. The rest of the class are all expecting to become people of notoriety, but have not yet decided in what way. During the remainder of our school life we intend to do our best to have a good time, live up to our motto of "Get something for nothing," to the best of our ability.

Junior I Class History

We're a band of "Jolly Juniors,"
We've passed the Freshman year:
We spurn the haughty Sophomore:
Our Senior time draws near.

Six fine mechanics, five brainy bookkeepers, one illustrious son of the rural districts and fifteen sweet, gentle and excellent housekeepers, compose this "Jolly Junior I. Band."

Now, Gibbon has said that history is little else than a catalogue of crimes, mistakes and misfortunes of men, and if this be the case, the class of 1912 has but little history. She has no crimes, unless the most pleasant habit of "cutting," "shorting" and "bathing" be uncharitably called criminal acts. Her mistakes are few; nevertheless we must acknowledge that sometimes her mechanical sons will mistake their fingers for the nail. As for her misfortunes, there are none, except the fact that she has not enough high and honorable positions in which to place her noble sons and daughters.

The accomplishments of the past year greatly outweigh these petty faults, and we are sure that with another year's practice our mechanics will always "hit the nail on the head." Nor are we lacking in athletes, for Messrs. Giddens, Braunigs, May and Miss Hamilton reflect honor upon the class in this line.

We doubt not that we have had our share of the pleasures and difficulties due to Junior I's, but in spite of the difficulties we hope to live up to our motto, "Labor on to Success," and come out victors in the end.

Sophomore II Class History

As I look back on those Freshman days, when our greatest ambitions and highest aspirations all pointed to one object, that of becoming a Sophomore—I, I remember well the sensation of our all too evident “Freshyness,” which was branded all over our insignificant beings in our timid speech and deferential manner toward the “upper classmen.” But even though we counted for naught in the crowded halls, where every Soph, Junior or Senior looked down upon us, we had our happy days and good times, just as they did.

Does anybody remember our “singing” class, where, at the end of each month, some of the students (by the urgent request of Mr. Wilson) would delight their hearers with solos of “Do, re, mi,” which would thrill us to the depths of our souls? Ah, those happy Freshman days!

But now, we are Sophomores—spelled with a capital S. We are not merely sub Sophs, but full-fledged Sophomores, almost ready to spread our rapidly growing wings of wisdom and fly into Juniorism. Most of the Freshmen acquire a wrong impression of the meaning of Sophomore, by believing and delighting in the rumor that the word means “Wise Fool.” Dear little Freshies, allow me to correct your mistake by stating that the word is really derived from two words, meaning “More Wise”—(than a Freshman).

We are a fine class, though our talents do run in different lines. There are our ball boys, football, basketball and baseball, who have by hard work won so many victories. We are proud of our fine athletic department. Then our girls who cook, who concoct delightful dishes dear to the heart of man, and our “cultured” musicians who, some mornings in chapel, give us brief glimpses into to mystic realm of "musical sounds." Our artists! It is impossible to forget those who impress themselves on our memories by their industrious hammering on copper and brass, and by painting masterpieces, whose subjects are often little jugs, containing yellow or red flowers, trailing gracefully over the edges. Our dignified business members, too. Those who are bent on making a way through life with a substantial foundation. We are proud of all our boys and girls, are we not?

Now that we have reached the height of our "Freshy" ambition, there is still an uneasy, dissatisfied feeling in our hearts. I have an idea that this is a "hankering" for the state of being Junior, and when we attain that height, I may safely wager that we shall look back and down on those "little Sophomores" and long again for the final goal of Senior.

Sophomore I Class History

The Sophomore—I Class is noted for three things: The beauty and popularity of its maidens, the chivalry and courage of its boys, and the combined brightness of both.

Long ago—it seems ages—we were Freshies, and as such first mounted the ladder of Knowledge at the L. I. I. No taunts, no superior airings of wisdom from the higher students, could daunt us. We went on our own way, and now we are already a part of this great institution, an important part. The teachers are all amazed at our precocity; in fact, a few admitted that we were getting beyond them.

It would not do for me to name each separate scholar and proclaim his virtues. There are a great many of us, but “the more the merrier,” and we are certainly living up to that adage.

Already I foresee future artists, poets, authors, statesmen and a great many other famous additions to our country from our matchless class.

I don’t know how the L. I. I. would get along without us. We form the best part of its societies and manage to fool the instructors so thoroughly that we never receive demerits. Even Mr. Keeny has to admit his admiration for us.

Steadily but successfully we keep mounting, mounting, and hope very soon to reach the topmost rung, the highest position of school Seniordom.

The secret of our success lies in one simple little proverb. It is this: “Be sure you are right; then go ahead.”

Freshman II Class History

The present Freshman—II Class, numbering sixty strong, has for its aim to be the best class ever turned out by the Louisiana Industrial Institute.

Most of the members of this class took their first peep into "Prep." heaven in September, 1910. However, a few did not enter until the class had climbed the numerous and rocky paths that confront the innocent little "Preps." They may rest assured that they were fortunate.

The growth of our class has been steady in its mental development, as well as in numbers. Among us we have some of the best mathematicians, mechanics, cooks and bookkeepers that have ever been enrolled in this institution.

The class may well be compared to a rude piece of stone, for we admit that when we were first brought to sculptor we were pretty "rocky," but by the chiseling down we received at the hands of those sculptors, we have become somewhat more presentable and had many of the bumps knocked off. It is to be hoped, however, that we will obtain an even higher polish by the time we are to go forth from the workshop.

So let us all be loyal to this, the Freshmen II. Class, and put forth the best we have, to make this the best class that L. I. I. has ever had.

Freshman I Class History

You've asked for a history of our class, as yet unknown to fame—

I'll lisp the story my very best, trying truth to gain.
As back upon the years I gaze, with the historian's search,

I find that missing documents oft leave me in the lurch;
But stored up in the annals is an entrance of you.
Please pardon me, dear class, if you do not get your due.
Now, of course, 'twould be 'yond my power to tell of every one,

The detailed news of study and the endless pranks and fun,

So I've written just these little notes about the officers here,

For the documents about the others, I must confess, weren't clear.

Yet in the dying embers as I sat by my fire,

A group seemed rising—higher, ever higher.

In those dear days of long ago, in which all have a place,
I hear that "our crowd" was prominent in the race
For wisdom, and surely for happiness, too.

May the past, then, send a bright ray to guide us through
The unrevealed future, that belongs to us every one—
The future that goes on and on until Death is the setting sun.

May our friendship for each other be a bark on life's sea,
A bark that will smoothly sail and safely to a country!
Yes, a country of kindness, a country of love; where no aliens are.

We'll be members together, while the past rises clear like a star.

Let's hope the future's radiance will be a blissful light,
And that the God of love and duty will keep that future bright.

PREPS

Prep. Class History

The Prep. Class makes up in quality what they lack in quantity. We are Bright, even Pert-on Bryan have caged a Martin, tasted Zuber-beer and raised our own cotton Bolls for a Mill—near DeLoney.

We began our career as L. I. I. students in the spring term of 1911. While we realize we are preparing for the first round of the ladder, we are filled with a determination to go to the top. Knowing that an education is not gained in a single bound, and that we have a long, hard climb before us ere we attain the goal to which we aspire, we are making careful preparations, and intend to persevere until success crowns our efforts.

Music Course

The Music Course includes the pianoforte, band and stringed instruments, and voice. Also, all of the complete courses in the academic subjects required in the Industrial Art Course, with courses in theory, harmony and musical history.

Pianoforte

In this course the object is to secure a thorough and systematic training for the pupil, whereby one may prepare for teaching or concert work. Particular attention is given to developing a perfect musical touch in all its phases. Exercises and compositions from the best masters are used to develop and broaden the technic.

Voice

In this course the efforts are mainly directed to building up the voice and giving it strength and purity of tone, at the same time freedom and clearness in enunciation. Pupils are prepared for church, oratorio and concert work, as well as for teaching, in such a manner as gradually to develop and broaden both the voice and the intellect. All lessons are given privately, as better results are obtained in this manner than in the class system. The instructor can thus give all attention to the individual needs.

ART STUDENTS.

AGRICULTURE

Students taking the Agriculture Course will not only be well prepared successfully to carry on various lines of farming for themselves, but they will be competent to act as foremen; and, after some experience, as managers and superintendents of large farms. The graduate from the Agriculture Course will be a strong and influential citizen as well as a skillful producer, because while the studies of the Agriculture Course are primarily practical, emphasizing the business side of life, yet enough "culture" studies are offered to give the student a well-balanced and well-rounded education.

The motto of the Agriculture Course is practice with science. Some manual labor is required as practice work in the fields and laboratory. The student is taught to handle tools in carpentry and blacksmithing; he is given some practice in handling stock, grafting, tree planting and general farm management. He is not sent into the fields to plow, harrow or cultivate, but he has an opportunity to observe the best methods of farm practice and become acquainted with the great principles and practice of agriculture.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

(Reverie.)

On a "Pleasant" Spring morning a "Stewart" passed the "Broadwell" on the way to the "Little" Church. The "Bell" was chiming in the distance, and the "Robbins" were gaily singing a "Carroll," making the world happy and gay. As he walked along he slowly turned the "Pages" of his book, but his thoughts were of his younger days, spent as a "Miller" in a land far away. Suddenly he was aroused from his reverie by his "Butler's" rapid approach. Hesitatingly he handed him over a telegram, which changed all the former pleasures into deepest sorrow.

Why?

- Isn't F. Bell polite?
- Does M. Terrell like Scott(land)?
- Does Mrs. Dudley like to stand on the staircase?
- Is E. McCuen's favorite place by the "Oakes?"
- Does Miss Trousdale persist in saying it is cold?
- Can't Brownlee and Hamilton get back from town on time?
- Does Miss Dudley enjoy being a messenger girl?
- Doesn't K. Henry ever get caught visiting during study hour?
- Did M. L. Hamilton cut church?
- Is J. LaCroix glad the "Chapter House" has been removed?
- Did a certain Freshie leave A. Hendrik's table?
- Do all the girls talk to L. Puckett with great care?
- Does Mr. Dudley never carry the girls auto riding?
- Does A. Bonner talk so extremely loud?
- Can't M. Smith turn her faucet off?
- Does A. H. think any one can typewrite without paper?

The Psalm of Foot Ball

Tell me not in mournful numbers
Football is so very tame,
For the player's dead that slumbers—
That, you know, is part of the game.

Football's real, football's earnest,
And the grandstand's not the thing;
Let each fellow play his derndest,
While trumpets blow and cowbells ring.

Not by slugging, nor by frown,
Is the way to make a hole;
Play low and push, that each down
Finds you ten yards nearer goal.

Trust no lineman, howe'er smart;
Hit him hard and kill him dead.
Be off quick, get the start,
Or he's liable to get ahead.

On the gridiron's broad field playing,
When the ball is put in play,
Lay about you with much slaying,
To be a hero—that's the way.

Bucks of great players all remind us,
We can make our play sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us,
A good, wide opening in the line.

An opening which perhaps another,
Following after with the ball,
A winded, hot pursued brother,
Fleeing, shall break through the wall.

Let us then be up and doing,
Have a slug for every pate;
Still a bag of wind pursuing,
Learn to kick the football straight.

Rubbish

Jack and Jill went up the hill
To enter Ruston College—
Jack fell down the very first term,
And Jill received the same knowledge.

Berry W. is a funny, funny lad;
Not too good, or not too bad.
But if he should stumble over a chair, 'tis said,
He'd apologize to it, or lose his head.

The Junior 2's are just the thing,
No finer class, you bet-u,
But you'd better mind your p's and q's,
Or the Junior 1's 'll get-u.

Winnie B.—What did he die of?
Mary Lee T.—Indigestion of the brain, I think.

Blonnie—Oh, this is Tuesday, and I have a voice lesson today, and I haven't looked at my voice.

"Mary, Mary, quite contrary,
How do your heart strings grow?"
"Drives and candy and operas dandy,
And pretty frat pins all in a row."

Junior—How is that, Mr. Breeden?
Mr. B.—Oh, it was like the people watching Jonah build the ark.

Miss Gray's favorite poem:
"My Ardis lies under the auto,
My Ardis swears under the car;
Please send to the garage for some one,
For 'tis lonesome up here where I are."

In Mr. Thatcher's room, where demerits are given for unprepared lessons:

Mr. Thatcher (savagely)—Now, sir, for the last time, what is the square of the hypotenuse of a right-angled triangle equivalent to?

Waylon (who does not know his lesson)—It's equivalent to ten demerits for me. Here's a pencil, sir.

Mr. Carson—Now, Mr. N—, why does the barometer go up in fine weather?

Alvin—So it can go down again when it rains, I suppose.

Mr. Hancock (punching Mr. Hale in the ribs with his umbrella)—There's an idiot at the end of my umbrella.

Mr. Hale—Which end?

Ask

Blonnie why she spends so many periods in bookkeeping.

Ruth D. why she reads so many McClure magazines.

Roy C. why he never meets a Rock Island train.

Scott if he had a "vardatious" time in Clinton.

Dee to translate "Bkg."

Kate H. who blew the whistle.

Ruth F. who played the "hero."

Abbie why she blushes so much.

Lonam the reason the building shook so badly on the 3d of March.

"Red" S. why he wraps his head in a towel every night.

Mr. Keeny why he hates so badly to see May 3d come.

Cornelia the reason she is so happy when going to fourth period work.

Olley why he "changed."

Dee what the "Freshie" said to him at the hydrant.

Fatty M. what his favorite color is.

Flashes

"Red" (on being asked what kind of town Clinton was)—Why, goodness, you couldn't see any of the town for the houses and stores.

Freshie (to Senior)—Did Shakespeare write Ruskin's "Sesame and Lilies?"

Mr. Carson (to W. J. C., who had spelled until with two l's)—Mr. Coburn, knock "l" out of that word.

Jones (in chemistry)—Is H_2O that stuff that don't smell good?

Ruth D. (to Mr. Carson)—Mamma, must I put HCl in this tube?

Jones—Mr. Hale, how long can a goose stand on one foot?

Mr. Hale—I don't know; try it.

Mr. Doran—Miss T., what is meant by oodoom?

Mamie—I don't know a thing about Latin, Mr. Doran.

Mr. Doran—This is not Latin, Miss T.

Mr. B.—Joe, put the top on the powder; it will lose all its strength.

Joe—It will still be pink, won't it?

M. B. (on being introduced to Mr. P.)—Glad to meet you, Mr. Butler.

Business student (picking up Caesar)—Gee! Latin is easy. I wish I had taken it. Look here:

"Forte dux in aro"—forty ducks in a row.

"Passus sum jam"—Pass us some jam.

Man is like unto a kerosene lamp,

He isn't especially bright;

He's often turned down, usually smokes,

And frequently goes out at night.

I'm in a 10-der mood today,

& feel poetic, 2,

4 fun I'll just — off a line,

And send it off 2 U.

W. B. (in jewelry store)—I've got a mug here that I want to have engraved.

Jeweler—I'm afraid you have made a mistake. The barber shop is next door.

A. M. says it is awful to be "blue," but he would give his "auto" if he could get "Gray."

Hall Boys' Advertising Column

A liberal reward will be paid for information regarding the belling of the cat. Ed.

Lost, Strayed or Stolen—One quartette. When last heard from, on road "in charge of a woman."

Notice—No loafing in the halls.

Can Run! My small bell has left me. Please return and receive reward, stating facts in case; also be willing to supply testimony. 19th, second floor.

Young Men's Christian Association

The Young Men's Christian Association

The Y. M. C. A. of the Louisiana Industrial Institute has for its object "to unite all students who desire to strengthen the spiritual life and influence of the school; to promote growth in Christian character and fellowship and aggressive Christian work, specially for and by students." Students attend of their own accord.

The students control the affairs of the Association, with the help of an advisory council, which is composed of eight members of the Association, with Prof. Prince of the faculty.

The south parlor, a well equipped room in the Boys' Dormitory, is used exclusively for the meetings. A reception and reading room adjoins the parlor. These rooms have received special attention, and are well furnished with chairs, tables and book shelves. There are books of religious literature in the reading room, kept for reference. Also, the Y. M. C. A. receives several magazines, periodicals and newspapers, which, together with a variety of games, may be enjoyed by any member. Although the reading room was only recently established, there is a great deal of interest being manifested. It is visited by many of the boys, and is enjoyed as a place of recreation as well as a source of information.

The rooms have been made very attractive, the walls being decorated with pennants of about twenty of the leading colleges and universities of the country. There is an organ, also the property of the Y. M. C. A., for use during devotional exercises.

Meetings are held at 2:30 Sunday evenings. Professional men of the city and members of the faculty speak at the meetings, there being no tiresome program rendered, as was previously done. A course of Bible study is offered, which results in benefit to all who take it, the class being conducted by one of the best students in the institution.

The Association gives a pennant for the best record by any one of its members in the athletics of the school. Last year there was only one person who made every Varsity team, but during the present session there seems to be a number of contestants.

That the Y. M. C. A. is a potent factor in extending moral and ethical principles is shown by the large membership, together with the interest of all the students.

We wish to express our gratitude to Mr. Prince for his advice and suggestions. We also desire to acknowledge the influence and assistance of the members of the faculty who assist in the religious work of the Association. To them we owe much.

A. H. May—Vendor of cheap information.

Willie Coburn, Joe Doland and Stine—Agents.

Roy Cookston—"Information Personified."

W. E. Dee—Janitor.

Some things that can be learned at this Bureau:

Who got demerits last, and how many.

Who got shipped last, if any.

What girl has a date.

Which ones have to wait.

Who of the faculty to fear.

And who will be president next year.

In fact, just for the going,

One may learn anything not worth knowing.
